

1 GAVIN'S ANTIQUE PAVERS AREN'T JUST BRICKS, THEY'RE LITTLE PIECES OF MIDWEST HISTORY.

—brick

SALVAGED BRICK

1

Gavin Historical Bricks At the turn of the century, the streets of small towns in Ohio, Illinois, and Iowa weren't paved with gold. They were paved with brick. And not just any brick. Those rugged pavers withstood years of wagon wheels and shoe leather—and still have plenty of strength left to hold up the SUV in your driveway. Brothers Mike and John Gavin harvest brick from old Midwestern roads, factories, and schoolhouses and ship them to homeowners all over the country for use in driveways, walkways, patios, and walls. These character-filled pavers will run you $1 to $2 each, but for pieces of history, you can't beat it. Iowa City, Iowa; 319-631-3984; historicalbricks.com